

Insurance

Britain's technology sector is performing robustly, the UK is currently the fourth largest global market for technology investment, underpinned by £6.3 billion worth of investment flowing into the sector last year*. For us in the east, 2018 brought a 206% increase in funds being invested into technology business.

Whilst these figures are positive for businesses it is worth noting that the sheer pace of expansion and innovation within the technology sector brings with it unprecedented challenges and potentially significant and unappreciated exposures to risk. With the changing market insurers are having to adapt in order to keep pace with the technology landscape and to identify and develop new solutions to meet new risk profiles, so the need has never been greater to work with a specialist insurance broker who fully understands the market and can provide a bespoke and comprehensive portfolio of cover.

We take the time to thoroughly understand your business and your individual requirements and will tailor a package to suit your needs. We can build your cover to include traditional insurances such as public and employers' liability and professional indemnity whilst at the same time accessing the market to find innovative insurance solutions to new and emerging risks.
