James specialises in helping innovative technology companies grow and develop their businesses. He has a wealth of experience in leading corporate transactions and investments for such clients and guiding businesses through complex intellectual property, data protection and privacy issues. Clients value James' ability to find practical solutions to complex legal issues. James and his team assist businesses from early stage start ups through to established international technology businesses in particular those working in the us.

“ How many legal firms really appreciate the issues involved in this area of science or provide a helpful and willing service?

The Ashtons Legal practice is one of the few exceptions, in my experience, with their partner James Tarling leading a team that specialises in helping innovative companies such as ours to grow and safely manage the many legal questions that inevitably arise. James has advised our company on our various legal issues for more than five years and we have benefited from his expertise. ”
